Thanks, Allison. I did a pretty close visual comparison yesterday and came to a similar conclusion. I think there were 3 new footnotes, but it should be fairly straight-forward to do the document compare in word to make sure everything is caught. Will be back in touch soon.

Thanks, Amy

Amy--

The only new reference you need to worry about is the Peter memo. There were two small content tweaks but I don't have track changes that isolate those. They were made to a very marked up version that wouldn't be that helpful to you. The only other changes that were made were minor clean ups of spacing, extra periods, etc when I accepted all changes and saw what was left (which I think your editor would be catching anyway).

Hi Jayne,

It looks like Peter's memo is in there still as footnote 72. Our editor is in the middle of reviewing and we are also in the midst of the references. Any chance there is a version with track changes between this copy and the previous one you sent?

If not, because I don't want to slow our editor down, I will do a document compare after I get the version back from her and will develop the latest version.

Please let me know what you think.

Thanks, Amy

Hi Amy,

FYI, I just received another version of the decision document from Allison (but could not locate the reference to Peter's memo). See attached.

Thanks Jenny for emailing me the full citation for Peter's memorandum (see below). I am cc'ing Amy so she has that information. Do you have a pdf of the memo itself? If so, can you email to Amy?
